
April 2018

Curriculum

Our theme for the month of April is “Springtime and Weather”! Along with the arrival of spring comes unpredictable weather, the perfect time for our students to become “weather watchers” as we introduce the concept of the changing weather and seasons. We will discuss Earth Day and the importance of recycling. We will also be focusing on learning the color yellow, the number 9, as well as continue with our weekly letter themes (letters V through X).

Pre-Kindergarten Questionnaire

Parents of graduating pre-K students, please follow this link and complete the online form:

<http://storylandschool.com/parent-center/kindergarten-form/>

This will assist us in planning for our summer program. Please respond by April 1, 2018 to let us know what your plans are for your child after graduation. Graduation is on Thursday, June 7th.

Week of the Young Child

The Week of the Young Child is an annual celebration sponsored by the NAEYC (National Association for the Education of Young Children). It’s purpose is to focus attention on the needs of young children and their families, and to recognize and support early childhood programs who meet those needs. It is also a time to recognize that children’s opportunities are our responsibility. We are committed to ensuring each child experiences the type of environment at home, at child care, at school, and in the community that will promote their early learning.

This year we have many special activities planned for the Week of the Child, which begins Monday, April 16th through Friday, April 20th.

Monday & Wednesday: Parent Appreciation days. On Monday, to show our appreciation we will provide juice, muffins and fruit for you to begin your day. On Wednesday, please check your child's file folder for a special card from your child.

Tuesday & Thursday: Child Appreciation days. On Tuesday, we will have a Jumpy House. On Thursday, we will have an all school pizza party.

Friday: Teacher Appreciation day. Please let your child’s teacher know that their efforts are appreciated.

Graduation Pictures and Spring Portraits

Both Pre-K classes, Sunshine and Bay Rooms will have their graduation pictures taken on Wednesday, April 11th beginning at 9:00 am.

Each child will be wearing a cap and gown for these pictures. Girls will wear maroon and boys will wear white. It is suggested boys wear a plain, light colored shirt that day, as patterns or graphics will show through their white gown.

Spring portraits will be taken Thursday, April 12th beginning at 9:00 am for all other children in the Little Stars, Little Monkeys, and Little Owls classes.

As soon as we receive them, we will place an envelope with order form in your child's file folder.

Happy Birthday!

Pennies for Patients

We have successfully completed the Pennies For Patients Drive to benefit The Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. Thank you all so much for your participation.

To celebrate and show our appreciation we will be hosting a pizza party lunch Thursday, April 19th at 11:45AM. No need to bring in a lunch for your child that day.

All children are welcome even if it is not their regularly scheduled day as long as a parent accompany them for lunch.

Pre-K Graduation—Cap and Gown Orders

A reminder for all Pre-K parents that the cap and gown order forms were due March 23rd.

This year, boys will be wearing white and girls maroon. The cost for the cap, gown and tassel is $30 per student and will be added to your April tuition.

Reminders

- Please do not let your child touch the sign-in screen.
- To ensure the safety of our children, please make sure the front entryway door is completely closed upon entrance and exit of the building.
- Please do not park on the right half of the driveway on the right side of the 4th Street building. That space belongs to our neighbor.

Promoting Independence

While 2 to 4-year-olds still need plenty of parental help, preschool teachers agree that children are typically able to do more than many of us think.

Here's how you can encourage them:

- 1. Expect more. Most people have a way of living up (or down) to expectations – preschoolers included. Raise the bar and your child will probably stretch to meet it.
- 2. Resist doing for her what she can do herself. While it may be quicker and easier to do it yourself, it won't help to make your child more self-sufficient.
- 3. Don't redo what they've done. If your child makes their bed, resist the urge to smooth the blankets. If they dress themselves in stripes and polka dots, compliment their "eclectic" style. Unless absolutely necessary, don't fix what your child accomplishes, it may discourage them.
- 4. Let them solve simple problems. If you see your child trying to assemble a toy or get a book from a shelf that they can reach if they stands on a stepstool, pause before racing over to help.
- 5. Assign a chore. Putting your preschooler in charge of a regular, simple task will build their confidence and sense of competency. A child who is entrusted to water the plants or empty the clothes dryer is likely to believe they can also get dressed by themselves or pour their own cereal. Just be sure the chore you assign is manageable and that it's real work, not busywork, since even preschoolers know the difference. The goal is to make your child feel like a capable, contributing member of the family.
- 6. Praise is key. Especially if your child is not in a cooperative phase, try to catch them being good. Children repeat behaviors that get attention.
- 7. Develop predictable routines. Children cooperate in school because they know what's expected of them, while it would be impractical to have the same level of structure at home, the more consistent you are, the more cooperative your child is likely to be.
- 8. Lighten up. If your child refuses to do something, try turning it into a game. Humor and games are two great tools that parents sometimes forget about in the heat of the moment.
- 9. Warn of transitions. If your child pitches a fit whenever you announce it's time to switch gears –whether that means shutting off the TV, stopping play to come eat, or leaving a friend's house – it could be that you're not giving enough advance notice. Give a specific time or set a timer so they know when the time is up.
- 10. Use sticker charts and rewards judiciously. Reserve rewards for finite endeavors, such as potty training, but avoid offering them for everyday things, such as dressing themselves or brushing their teeth.
- 11. Give structured choices. If, for example, your 3-year-old refuses to sit at the dinner table, you might offer the choice of sitting and getting dessert – or not sitting and missing out on a treat. Just be sure, if you want your child to choose option A, that option B is less attractive.
- 12. Encourage teamwork. If your child is fighting over a toy with another child, set a timer for five minutes. Tell one child he can have the toy until he hears the timer, and then it will be the other child's turn.
- 13. Let your child work out minor squabbles. Instead of swooping in to settle disputes, stand back and let them work it out (unless they're hitting each other). You won't always be there to rescue your child.
- 14. Redirect. If your preschooler is jumping on the couch or grabbing for their big sister's dolls, distract them by asking if they would like to draw a picture or read a short story together.
- 15. Involve your child in righting her wrongs. If you find them coloring on the walls, have them help wash it off. If they knock over a playmate's block tower, ask them to help rebuild it.
- 16. Don't delay discipline. If you must reprimand your child, do so when you see them misbehaving. If you wait to reprimand "later" or when "we get home" your child may forget the incident.
